P20U ► COMPACT ALL-IN-ONE PC WITH CONVINCING FEATURES

Many years of experience of developing highly integrated All-in-One PCs have now produced the XPC P20U. With a screen diagonal of 11.6 inches (equivalent to 29.5 cm), this device can be used in applications which have sometimes been unavailable to its bigger brother, the "X50". The P20U is therefore not just much smaller, boasting a capacitive multi-touch screen, it also has features which will prove to be very useful in practice. The cable routing and the operating position have been improved, 3G/4G USB sticks operate with external antennas for a strong signal reception, and numerous I/O ports are of course available when required. Despite all the new features, WLAN, a webcam, speaker and microphone remain an integral part of the configuration. It should of course also be mentioned that the P20U is completely fanless and the front panel is dust and splash-water-proof.
